The Committee on Jewish Law & Standards (CJLS) Kashrut Subcommittee<sup>2</sup>
Introduction by Rabbi Elliot N. Dorff, Chair Emeritus, CJLS

Stories play a key role in identifying a religion or nation, especially the ones at the center of a community's history and ritual, the ones taught to members of the community from an early age and repeated often by adults in rituals and prayers. Such master stories express in easily understandable and emotionally compelling terms a community's understanding of its origins, its values, and its goals. If one were to compare the view of life and humanity embedded in the master stories of, for example, Judaism, Christianity, Islam, Buddhism – and the United States, China, and Israel – one would find deep differences in how these various human communities understand who they are as individuals and as a community, what is important in life, and what they should strive for. Judaism's master story is the Exodus from Egypt, followed by the trek to Mount Sinai and then to the Promised Land of Israel. We leave Egypt not as individuals but as a nation, and we do so only with the help of God. This is very different from the staunch individualism at the heart of the liberalism that has forged most Western countries. At Mount Sinai we engage in a Covenant with God that establishes the basis of our relationship with God – and the duties of that relationship – for ourselves and all our descendants.

This perception of ourselves, our links to one another and to God, and our mission in life infuses much of our liturgy and many of our holidays, but it is Passover that focuses on this story most graphically. As the Haggadah says, "In every generation we each must see ourselves as if we personally left Egypt." To enable us to identify with that story once again, we reenact the Exodus through story, discussion, and song at the Seder table, and we

We reenact the Exodus through story, discussion,
and song at the
Seder table.

<sup>1</sup> Updated March 2025. This Pesah Guide was approved by the CJLS on January 10, 2012 by a vote of fourteen in favor (14-0-0). Those voting in favor were: Rabbis Aaron Alexander, David Booth, Miriam Berkovitz, Baruch Frydman-Kohl, Susan Grossman, Reuven Hammer, Jeremy Kalmanofsky, Gail Laboritz, Jonathan Lubliner, Daniel Nevins, Paul Plotkin, Avram Reisner, Jay Stein and Loel Weiss.

Pesah is the Jewish festival which requires the most preparatory effort and is the most complex. Yet Jews are committed to doing their best to observe the laws of Pesah. This Rabbinical Assembly Pesah guide is a brief outline of the policies and procedures relevant to the preparation of a kosher for Pesah home. Please contact your local Conservative rabbi or local religious authority if you have any questions.

With significant changes in the nature and manufacture of kitchen products and food stuffs, new policies are required to maintain a kosher for Pesah kitchen. There are also many significant differences of opinion amongst rabbis regarding the laws of Pesah. We cannot present all of the various approaches.

This guide is intended to help families maintain a kosher for Pesah home in accordance with the principles of Conservative Judaism and its understanding of Jewish Law.

<sup>2</sup> This guide was prepared by the kashrut subcommittee of the CJLS, chaired by Rabbi Paul Plotkin and updated yearly by Rabbi Aaron Alexander and the current CJLS kashrut subcommittee. We give special thanks to Dr. Joe Regenstein for lending his expertise on matters of food production to our discussions.

restrict our diet to remind ourselves of the slavery of Egypt and the need to redeem ourselves and others again and again. The Hebrew word for Egypt, Mitzrayim, means “straits,” probably because the Nile enters the Mediterranean not as one river but through multiple straits. Jewish interpreters, however, have understood the word metaphorically as well, teaching us that in every generation we must seek to redeem ourselves and others from the straits of life – poverty, ignorance, prejudice, illness, meaninglessness, etc. That is our Jewish mission for life, the charge that God has given us and that the Passover story articulates for us anew each and every year.

This Guide, prepared by the Kashrut Subcommittee and approved by the Committee on Jewish Law and Standards, explains in detail the laws and customs regarding the dietary restrictions of Passover, the rules that remind us each time we eat of Passover’s messages for us. Some of these guidelines are, frankly, quite technical and even complicated; that is the result of the special stringency of the Passover rules in Jewish law and the complex, new ways in which foods are processed in our time. We hope that this Guide will enable Jews to understand what they may eat on Passover and how to prepare their kitchens for the holiday in ways that are clear and understandable. We do not intend this Guide to replace your rabbi’s guidance on these matters; on the contrary, any question you have about what is written here or what is missing you should address to your rabbi.

We restrict our diet to remind ourselves of the slavery of Egypt.

One last, but important, comment. Because Passover involves more dietary strictures than the rest of the year, many Jews become downright compulsive about the rules of the holiday. We should be careful not to use these rules to assert our superior piety over others, and remember that observance of Passover should not come at the expense of the values of honoring our parents and treating everyone with respect. Passover is really important – a central feature of what it means to live a Jewish life. Its very meaning, though, is completely undermined if the dietary rules of Passover lead people to treat each other with disrespect. So as we explain the dietary rules of Passover below, we fervently hope that they will instead function as they are supposed to – namely, to serve as graphic reminders throughout the holiday of the critical lessons of Passover, of the need to free ourselves and the world around us of all the physical, intellectual, emotional, and communal straits that limit us and others in living a life befitting of people created in the image of God. May we all succeed in making this and every Passover the stimulus for us to fix the world in these ways every day of our lives.

Kashering the Kitchen

It is customary (and easiest) to remove the utensils and dishes that are used during the year, replacing them with either new utensils or utensils used year to year only for Pesah. This is clearly not possible for major appliances and may not even be possible for dishes and utensils.

There is a process for kashering many, but not all, kitchen items thus making them kosher for Pesach:

The general principle used in *kashering is that the way the utensil absorbs food is the way it can be purged of that food, כבולעו כך פולטו (Ke-vol'o kakh polto). This principle operates on the basis of the quality or intensity of how the items absorb food. Things used for cold food can be kashered by rinsing since no substance has been absorbed by the dish or glass. Items used on a stove absorb the food and thus need a stronger level of action namely expelling the food into boiling water, called הגעלה (bag'alab). The most intense form of usage is directly on a fire or in an oven and these utensils require the most intense method of kashering, namely ליבון (libbun), which burns away absorbed food.

Kashering Specific Appliances and Utensils

Metals

To kasher pots, silverware, and utensils wholly of metal not used for baking, thoroughly clean the item with soap and water, then, following a strict 24 hour waiting period during which they are not used, immerse the item in water that is at a rolling boil (הגעלה – bag'alab). For pots and pans, clean handles thoroughly. If the handle can be removed, do so for an even more thorough cleaning. To effect הגעלה (bag'alab), the item must be completely exposed to the boiling water. Pots and pans are either immersed in a larger pot of boiling water (may be done one section at a time) or filled with water brought to a rolling boil and then a heated stone is dropped into the pot such that the boiling water overflows to cover the sides of the pot. A safer alternative might be to let the water boil over the sides of the pot. In the case of silverware every part of each piece must be exposed to the water at a rolling boil. Following this הגעלה (bag'alab) process, each utensil is rinsed in cold water.

Metal bakeware used in a fire or in an oven must first be thoroughly scrubbed and cleaned and then must be subjected to direct fire or an oven at its maximum setting. Thus using a blow torch or putting it in an oven during self-cleaning are two ways to accomplish this purging (ליבון – libbun). This is a complicated and a potentially dangerous procedure and may result in discoloration or warping of the metal being purged. Exercise caution when performing ליבון (libbun). Metal baking pans and sheets require ליבון (libbun) at very high temperatures which may warp the vessel. This may result in a reluctance to submit the vessel to the required temperature.<sup>3</sup>

A metal kitchen sink can be kashered by thoroughly cleaning and scrubbing the sink (especially the garbage catch), letting 24 hours pass during which only cold water is used, and then carefully pouring boiling water over all the surfaces of the sink starting with the bottom first and working up towards the top including the lip.<sup>4</sup> A porcelain sink cannot be kashered, but should be thoroughly

<sup>3</sup> Of course there is nothing inherently wrong with using a warped pan on Pesach. The fear is that the possibility of ruining the pan will cause the owner not to subject the pan to the appropriate heat to effect kashering. We thus recommend simply purchasing some new pans specifically for Pesach.

<sup>4</sup> The sink may be used during the 24 hour waiting period provided that no hot water is used during that time. This alternative is doable only if care is taken that any water used is not hot enough to cause our hand to feel pain (yad soledet bo).

cleaned, then Pesah dish basins and dish racks must be used, one each for dairy and meat.

Glass

Glass dishes used for eating and serving hot foods are to be treated like any dish used for eating and serving hot food. Kashering is effected by cleaning and immersing in boiling water (הגעלה bag'alab).<sup>5</sup>

Glass cookware is treated like a metal pot for kashering (see paragraph on metal, above). The issues regarding glass bakeware are more complex. Some authorities allow it to be kashered and others do not.<sup>6</sup> Please ask your rabbi for guidance.

Drinking glasses or glass dishes used only for cold foods may be kashered by a simple rinsing. Some follow the custom of soaking them for three days.<sup>7</sup>

Plastics

Heavy duty plastics including dishes, cutlery or serving items, and containers—providing they can withstand very hot water and do not permanently stain—may be kashered by הגעלה (bag'alab). If there is some doubt as to whether particular items can be kashered, consult your rabbi.

Ceramic Dishes

Ceramic dishes (earthenware, stoneware, china, pottery, etc) cannot be kashered. However fine china that was put away clean and that has not been used for over one Jewish calendar year may be used after thorough detergent and hot water washing. The china is then considered pareve and may be designated for meat or dairy use.

Cooking Appliances

For ovens and ranges, every part that comes in contact with food must be thoroughly cleaned. This includes the walls and the top and bottom of the oven. Then the oven or range should be heated as hot as possible. The oven should be heated at maximum heat for an hour; the range top until the elements turn red and glow. Then parts of the range top around the elements that can be covered should be covered, (usually with aluminum foil). After a general and careful cleaning, self <sup>5</sup> The Committee on Jewish Law and Standards passed a teshuvah on glass bakeware written by Rabbi Kassel Abelson that permits kashering of such bakeware. The teshuvah is available on the Rabbinical Assembly website.

<sup>7</sup> Most authorities treat glassware as a non-porous substance and require the same kashering process as other dishes or utensils. Those same authorities rely on the principle of רוב תשמישו (rov tashmisho – majority of usage) to determine the status of the item. A glass cup for example, used mostly for cold drinks, only requires עררי (iruy) to effect kashering. Only the חיי אדם (Hayei Adam) (125:22) posits the three day soaking ritual. The process of soaking is as follows: Immerse the glassware completely in warm water for 72 hours, changing the water every 24 hours.

cleaning ovens are put through the full cleaning cycle while empty.<sup>8</sup> Following this process, the oven should be again cleaned to remove any ash. If the oven was very dirty to start, two cycles may be needed to assure a thorough cleaning.

Smooth, glass top electric ranges require kashering by ליבון (libbun) and ערוי (iruy) – pouring boiling water over the surface of the range top. First, clean the top thoroughly, and then leave it untouched for 24 hours. Then turn the coils on maximum heat until they are red hot. Shut off the elements and then carefully pour boiling water on the surface area over and around the burners. The range top may now be used for cooking.

Induction stovetops only generate heat when a pot with the appropriate composition of metals is placed on the surface, therefore the method traditionally used for kashering stovetops needs to be slightly adjusted.

The tempered glass surface of an induction stovetop should be kashered in four steps:

1. Thoroughly clean the surface. Not just with a damp sponge, but with a cleaning agent designed specifically for the purpose of cleaning tempered glass stovetops. If necessary, manufacturer's instructions for removing food stuck to the surface by using a razor blade should be followed.
2. There are two types of induction stovetops:
  - a. For induction stovetops with discrete burner areas: Completely clean hameitz pots that work on your induction stovetop and that match as closely as possible the maximum radius of each burner area. Leave the clean pots and the clean induction stovetop untouched for 24 hours. When the 24 hours have elapsed, partially* fill the prepared pots with water and place on their size-matching burners. Turn up the temperature to the maximum for each burner until the water in each pot is vigorously boiling. This will generate enough heat to kasher each burner area. Turn off each burner as it reaches this maximum temperature.
  - b. For induction stovetops in which the entire surface is available as a burner surface: Completely clean one or more metal square or rectangular baking pans made of a metal that works on your induction stovetop. Leave the clean pans and the clean stovetop untouched for 24 hours. When the 24 hours have elapsed, partially fill the baking pan/s with water. Think about the surface of your stovetop like a grid. Place your prepared pan/s starting at one corner of your induction stovetop surface and turn up the temperature to the maximum until the water in each pan is vigorously boiling. This will generate enough heat to kasher the area under the pan. Turn off the stovetop. Wait for the pan/s to cool. Shift the pan/s to the next contiguous area of the grid of your stovetop and repeat the heating-to-boiling process as many times as necessary until you have kashered the entire area of the stovetop.
3. When cool, thoroughly douse the entire surface with boiling water and then dry with a clean cloth.

*Partially filling the pots with water will protect the pots from burning when placed on the induction burners. If it is your desire to kasher these pots for Pesah, simply fill them to the brim, proceed to bring the pots to a boil as described above and allow the boiling water to spill over the brim of the pots. The pots and the stovetop burners are now all simultaneously koshered, however this method does not kasher baking pans.

Microwave ovens that have no convection option should be thoroughly cleaned. Then an 8 ounce cup of water is placed inside and the oven is turned on until the water almost disappears (at least 6 of the 8 ounces is gone). The cup should be moved midway through the process so that the area under the cup is exposed to the steam. Heating to complete dryness may damage the oven. A microwave oven that has a browning element cannot be kashered.

Convection ovens are kashered like regular ovens. Make sure that during the cleaning phase you clean thoroughly around the fan.

Additional Kitchen Appliances

A dishwasher needs to be cleaned as thoroughly as possible including the inside area around the drainage and filters. After 24 hours of not being used the dishwasher is again run empty (with racks in), with soap in the dispenser and in the main dishwasher, and set on the highest heat for the purpose of kashering. If the sides of the dishwasher are made of enamel or porcelain, the dishwasher cannot be kashered for Pesah.<sup>9</sup>

Other electrical appliances can be kashered if the parts that come in contact with המץ (hameitz) are metal and are removable, in which case they may be kashered like all other metal cooking utensils. If the parts are not removable, the appliances cannot be kashered. We recommend whenever possible that small appliances, like toaster ovens, be used strictly for Pesah, thus avoiding the difficulty of kashering these appliances.

Work Surfaces

Tables, closets, and counters that cannot be kashered should be thoroughly cleaned and covered for Pesah. The coverings can be contact paper, regular paper, foil or cloth that does not contain המץ (hameitz) (e.g. been starched with hameitz starch). Note that the covering material should be made of material that is not easily torn.

Many counter top surfaces can be kashered simply by a thorough cleaning, a 24 hour wait and ערוי (iruy) –pouring boiling water over them).

- Plastic laminates, limestone, soapstone, granite, marble, glass, Corian, Staron, Ceasarstone, Swanstone, Surell and Avonite surfaces can be kashered by ערוי (iruy).
- Wood without scratches is also kashered by ערוי (iruy).
- Ceramic, cement or porcelain counter tops cannot be kashered by ערוי (iruy).

The potential effectiveness of ערוי (iruy) depends on the material of which the counter was made. A full list of counter materials that can be kashered (according to their decisors) may be found on the website of the Chicago Rabbinical Council (CRC).<sup>10</sup> Refrigerators and freezers should be thoroughly <sup>9</sup> For more information about koshering dishwashers please see: “On the Kashrut of Dishwashers” by Rabbi Loel M. Weiss.

<sup>10</sup> Many countertops appear not to absorb but actually do. Marble for example is very difficult to clean properly. Also, pouring hot water on countertops may inadvertently cause damage to the floor when the water runs off the counter. The alternative is simply to clean the counters and cover them. As sensitive Jews however we must be aware of the mitzvah of בל תשחית (bal tashbit – not wasting resources) such that a covering that is thrown away after Pesach is wasteful. A plastic covering that is affixed to the counter, removed after Pesach, cleaned and stored for the future use would be one way to be sensitive to this mitzvah.

cleaned. If there are places where food can be stuck (e.g. cracks or difficult corners to reach), these areas can be covered.

Foods

The Torah prohibits the ownership of חמץ (hameitz) (flour, food or drink made from the prohibited species of leavened grain: wheat, oats, barley, rye or spelt) during Pesah.<sup>11</sup> Ideally we burn or remove all חמץ (hameitz) from our premises which may be effected by donations to a local food pantry. In some cases, however, this would cause prohibitive financial loss. In such cases, we arrange for the sale of the חמץ (hameitz) to a non-Jew and its repurchase after Pesah:

חמץ מכירת (mekhirat hameitz – the sale of hameitz) is accomplished by appointing an agent, usually one's rabbi to handle the sale. This must be considered a valid and legal transfer of ownership and thus the items sold must be separated and stored away from all other foods and supplies. This means that non-Passover dishes, pots, utensils and חמץ (hameitz) food that have been sold as part of the selling of one's חמץ (hameitz) should be separated, covered or locked away to prevent accidental use. At the end of the holiday, the agent arranges to repurchase the items on behalf of the owner, since the חמץ (hameitz) at that time is again permitted. One must wait until one is sure the repurchase has been done. If ownership of the חמץ (hameitz) was not transferred before the holiday, the use of any such חמץ (hameitz) remains prohibited after the holiday (חמץ שעבר עליו הפסח – hameitz she-avar alav ha-Pesah) and any such products should be given away to a non-Jewish food pantry.

Prohibited foods

Since the Torah prohibits the eating of חמץ (hameitz) during Pesah, and since many common foods contain some חמץ (hameitz), guidance is necessary when shopping and preparing for Pesah.

Prohibited foods (חמץ – hameitz) include the following:

- biscuits
- cakes
- coffees containing cereal derivatives
- crackers
- leavened bread
- pasta

These are foods that are generally made with wheat, barley, oats, spelt or rye (grains that can become חמץ (hameitz)). Any food containing these grains or derivatives of these grains must be certified kosher for Pesah. Flavorings in foodstuffs are often derived from alcohol produced from

---

<sup>11</sup> Technically one of the prohibited grains becomes חמץ (hameitz) when, during processing, it comes in contact with a leavening agent for more than 18 minutes. Thus, matzah, while made from wheat, is not חמץ (hameitz), for in the processing no leavening agent comes in contact with it for more than the specified time before it is baked. Matzah sh'murab is made from wheat that has not come in contact with a leavening agent (this could include water) from the time it is harvested, not simply from the time it is processed. (The additional care taken to keep the wheat free from leavening agents from the farm is, in part, the reason for its higher price.) It has become the custom of some Hasidic Jews not to one of these grains which would render that food חמץ (hameitz). Such products also need Pesah supervision. It is also important to check that all Matzah purchased for use on Passover is certified KP.

קטניות – Kitniyot

Until the fall of 2015, the CJLS position on kitniyot (for Ashkenazim) has followed that of the longstanding Ashkenazi minhag of refraining from eating them. These foods included: beans, corn, millet, peas, rice, soy, and some other plant based foods like mustard, buckwheat and sesame seeds. The one exception was an approved permission of peanuts and peanut oil, provided said items have proper year-round kosher certification and do not contain hameitz ingredients.<sup>12</sup>

In the fall of 2015 the CJLS passed two responsa which permit the consumption of kitniyot for Ashkenazim. To fully understand their positions, which differ in their argumentation, please see:

- David Golinkin, "Rice, beans and *kitniyot* on Pesah - are they really forbidden?" OH 453:1.2015a
- Amy Levin and Avram Israel Reisner, "A Teshuvah Permitting *Ashkenazim* to Eat *Kitniyot* on Pesah" 453:1.2015b

This permission does not come without a few caveats that do appear in the body of the papers. The first is that the CJLS affirms that this new position does not constitute an instruction to consume kitniyot during Pesah, but rather a halakhic basis and guideline for those who choose to do so. We recognize that while some individuals, communities, and institutions will utilize this new ruling, others may choose not to do so. Both are equally legitimate and derech eretz should be the guiding value with which we hold our communal and interpersonal conversations around this topic. We encourage all decision-making parties to be transparent in their policies and menus, as well as sensitive to the spiritual and dietary needs of others. For those who do avail themselves of this ruling, it is important to note the following specific guidance, cited in the p'sak halakhah of the responsum by Rabbis Amy Levin and Avram Reisner:

- 1) Fresh corn on the cob and fresh beans (like lima beans in their pods) may be purchased before and during Pesah, that is, treated like any other fresh vegetable.
- 2) Dried kitniyot (legumes, rice and corn) can be purchased bagged or in boxes and then sifted or sorted before Pesah. These should ideally not be purchased in bulk from bins because of the concern that the bin might previously have been used for hameitz, and a few grains of hameitz might be mixed in. In any case, one should inspect these before Pesah and discard any pieces of hameitz. If one did not inspect the rice or dried beans before Pesah, one should remove pieces of hameitz found in the package on Pesah, discarding those, and the kitniyot themselves remain permissible.
- 3) Kitniyot in cans may only be purchased with Pesah certification since the canning process has certain related hameitz concerns, and may be purchased on Pesah.
- 4) Frozen raw kitniyot (corn, edamame [soy beans], etc.): One may purchase bags of frozen non-kehshered kitniyot before Pesah provided that one can either absolutely determine that no shared equipment was used or one is careful to inspect the contents before Pesah and discard any pieces of חמץ (hameitz). Even if one did not inspect the vegetables before Pesah,

<sup>12</sup> A full discussion of these issues is contained in the paper entitled "A New Look at Peanuts—From the Ground Up" by Rabbi Ben Zion Bergman, which is an official position of the CJLS.

if one can remove pieces of (hameitz) found in the package on Pesah, the vegetables themselves are permissible.

- 5) Processed foods, including tofu, although containing no listed hameitz, continue to require Pesah certification due to the possibility of admixtures of hameitz during production.
- 6) Even those who continue to observe the Ashkenazic custom of eschewing kitniyot during Pesah may eat from Pesah dishes, utensils and cooking vessels that have come into contact with kitniyot (מי קטניות) may consume kitniyot derivatives like oil that have a KP *hekhsher.

Permitted Foods

An item that is kosher all year round, that is made with no חמץ (hameitz), and is processed on machines used only for that item and nothing else (such as unflavored pure coffee) may be used with no special Pesah supervision. As we learn more about the processing of foods and the ingredients they contain, relying on the kashrut of a product for Pesah without a Passover הכשר (hekhsher) may be problematic.<sup>13</sup> Wherever possible, processed foods ought to have a “כשר לפסח” (kasher l’Pesah) (הכשר (hekhsher) from a reliable source. Since that is not always possible, however, our guidelines reflect some alternatives that are acceptable according to halakhab.

Any food that you purchase with a “כשר לפסח” (kasher l’Pesah) (הכשר (hekhsher)) must have a label that is integral to the package and it should have the name of a recognizable, living supervising Rabbi or creditable kosher supervision agency if possible. If the label is not integral to the package or if there are questions regarding the labeling, the item should not be used without consulting a Rabbi.

No Pesah Hekhsher Required

Products which may be purchased without a Pesah הכשר (hekhsher) before or during Pesah:

- baking soda
- bicarbonate of soda, without additives
- eggs
- fresh fruits and vegetables (including pre-washed, bagged)
- fresh or frozen kosher meat (other than chopped meat)
- Nestea (regular and decaffeinated)
- pure black, green, or white tea leaves
- unflavored tea bags
- unflavored regular coffee
- olive oil (and other pure oils)
- whole or gutted fresh fish
- whole or half pecans (not pieces)
- whole (unground) spices and nuts
- OU/Star-K Raisins
- Kosher Wine
- Unflavored Seltzer Water, Sparkling Water (without additives)
- Non-iodized salt

<sup>13</sup> A full discussion of these issues is contained in the paper entitled “Supervision of Passover Food” by Rabbi Paul Plotkin, which is an official position of the CJLS.

No Pesah Hekhsher Required if Purchased Before Pesah

Products which may only be purchased without a Pesah הכשר (bekehsher) before Pesah. If bought during Pesah they require a Pesah הכשר (bekehsher):

- all pure fruit juices
- filleted fish
- Plain cheeses (without added flavor morsels)<sup>14</sup>
- frozen fruit (no additives)
- Salt<sup>15</sup>
- Plain butter, either salted or unsalted
- pure white sugar (no additives)
- unrefined/raw brown sugar
- date sugar
- quinoa (with nothing mixed in)*
- white milk
- Frozen Vegetables (needs to be checked for possible hametz before cooking)<sup>16</sup>
- Some products sold by Equal Exchange Fair Trade Chocolate<sup>17</sup>
- Plain, non-flavored almond or cashew milk<sup>18</sup>
- Canned Tuna with just tuna, water or oil, salt, and pyrophosphates.
- 100% Maple Syrup
- 100% Agave
- Ground salt and peppers
- Another way to potentially find acceptable foods without a specific Kosher for Passover designation during pre-Passover shopping is to prefer certified Gluten Free (and oat free) products.<sup>19</sup>
- Pure Honey
- Dried Fruit, prunes only without potassium sorbate

*It has come to our attention that there is a possibility of grains being mixed with quinoa if it is not under Pesach supervision. The best option is to purchase quinoa with a Pesach הכשר (bekehsher), if it is available. Where that is not available, purchase Bolivian or Peruvian quinoa, marked “gluten free” before Pesah. Please make certain that quinoa is the sole ingredient in the final packaging.<sup>20</sup>

<sup>14</sup> See the 1985 teshuvah by Rabbi Kassel Abelson for more information.

<sup>15</sup> Iodized salt may be processed with kitniyot, so this wouldn't be any concern for those who consume kitniyot on Passover.

<sup>16</sup> Frozen, uncooked vegetables may be processed on shared equipment that uses חמץ (hameitz). For those who want to be extra careful, It is preferable, when possible, to purchase those with a “כשר לפסח”

<sup>17</sup> Rabbi Aaron Alexander. Has determined that the products listed on this website are acceptable.

<http://shop.equalexchange.coop/pesach>

<sup>18</sup> For those who consume kitniyot: plain rice milk & soy milk are also acceptable.

<sup>19</sup> In an effort to definitively alert consumers to the presence of wheat gluten in packaged foods, the FDA mandates that any product including the words “gluten-free,” “no gluten,” “free of gluten,” or “without gluten” must contain less than 20 parts per million of glutinous wheat, spelt, barley, or rye. This eliminates the possibility of a gluten-free packaged food containing 4 of the 5 hametz-derived grains in any quantity that would be viable according to Jewish law. Furthermore, this eliminates concern over any shared equipment that may have imparted hametz, since the amount of 20 parts per million is much more stringent than the halakhic principle of batel b'shishim, nullifying hametz in trace amounts (1 part in 60, about 1.6% or less of the total volume). Oats are the only hameitz-grain not necessarily absent in a gluten-free food. Check for oats if you shop GF.

<sup>20</sup> After doing research, we have made our ruling based on the following understanding: Quinoa is gluten free and is not kitniyot. Quinoa is grown at 12,000 plus foot elevations in regions of Bolivia and Peru. It is grown in very arid conditions

Pesah Hekhsheh Always Required

Products which require reliable כשר לפסח (kasher l'Pesah) certification (regular kosher supervision being not sufficient) whether bought before or during Pesah:

- all baked goods
  - farfel
  - matzah
  - any product containing matzah
  - matzah flour
  - matzah meal
- Pesah cakes
- all frozen processed foods
- candy
- non-plain cheeses
- chocolate milk
- decaf coffee
- decaf tea
- herbal tea
- ice cream
- liquor
- oils (olive oil, see above)
- soda
- vinegar
- confectioners' sugar
- refined brown sugars

Regarding non-plain cheeses, an inspection by a rabbi of a local dairy may suffice to resolve potential questions in some cases and be permitted to purchase before Passover.

Baby Food

Baby food with a Passover הכשר (hekhsheh) is sometimes available. Of course, home preparation of baby food, using כשר לפסח (kasher l'Pesah) utensils and kitchen items is always possible. Pure vegetable prepared baby food that is כשר (kasher) the year round is acceptable for Pesah. For those who do not use קטניות, the use of קטניות (kitniyot) for babies is also acceptable with care taken that this baby food does not mix with food from the rest of the family. Separate dishes and utensils are recommended. Most infant formulas are made from soy and the use of קטניות (kitniyot) does not apply to infants. Thus infant formula products, כשר (kasher) the year round, are acceptable for Pesah. Here as in baby foods, the bottles, nipples and formula should be kept away from the general kitchen area and clean up should be done out of the kitchen area (e.g. a bathroom sink).

Medicines

All medications that are needed for illnesses and medical conditions that involve possible life threatening situations are permitted.

Medications that do not involve life threatening situations are divided into two categories. Those medications, in particular pills which are known remedies in the medical community and are made to which will not support the growth of המץ (hameitz) producing grains. Thus, there is no possibility of field contamination from such grains. In addition, the FDA has proposed a standard for any packaging marked "gluten-free" which will further guarantee that the product does not contain any gluten bearing grains. If, when the package is opened, you find that foreign grain is present, these foreign bodies should be discarded and the quinoa may be used on Pesah. Quinoa with spices or any other ingredients need KP certification.

be swallowed whole, are permitted, since they are to be considered like a "burnt item" that has lost its relationship to its possible non-kosher origin. Although swallowed, they are considered to be neither food nor (edible) chametz.

However medications for illnesses or medical conditions that do not involve a life threatening situation (including vitamins and supplements) that have been formulated to be edible or semi-pleasant to drink can be problematic. This includes soft gels which often contain porcine gelatin and liquid medicines that often contain glycerin and other additives (which can be made from animals). It is recommended that all such over the counter items be purchased with hashgacha (Kosher certification) before Pesach and state on their packaging that they contain no starch. If this is not possible, then it is preferable to purchase unflavored liquids and hard capsules, also prior to Pesach. If none of these are available, consult your rabbi.

All prescription or non-prescription drugs in the form of topical medications, including creams, lotions, ointments, foams, gels, drops, patches and inhalants as well as non-chewable tablets and injections may be owned, used and consumed on Passover, even if they contain חמץ (hameitz) or קטניות (kitniyot) (for those who maintain this custom), since they are inedible. This covers most medicines used by adults. All medications for babies may be used.

Pet Food

The prohibition against חמץ (hameitz) during Pesach includes not owning, not seeing and not benefitting from חמץ (hameitz). Therefore, we are not allowed to own or make use of חמץ (hameitz) during Pesach; even that which is exclusively for our animals' consumption.

The most appropriate way to take care of your pet during Pesach may be a function of what kind of animal/s you own. We provide three different systems for feeding your pet during Pesach, in descending order of desirability.

- 1) Identify and switch your pet to a חמץ (hameitz)-free diet before Pesach (and perhaps permanently). This is a particularly easy solution for dogs and cats. In recent years, there has been a trend toward eliminating gluten from dog and cat foods in recognition of the fact that their digestive tracts were not designed for these foods to begin with. There are many brands and grades of kibbles, frozen or refrigerated raw or fresh and canned dog and cat foods that use fillers like rice, lentils or beans instead of wheat. You do still need to read labels carefully, as oats may appear as a filler in some of these foods. Snakes and spiders eat prey, not plant matter, so they are חמץ (hameitz)-free year-round. For other animals (turtles, gerbils and hamsters, ferrets, fish, frogs, lizards and birds) there are חמץ (hameitz)-free options available, although they may be harder to track down and acquire. Consult with your veterinarian about quality חמץ (hameitz)-free foods that may be appropriate for your pet and also the best way to transition your pet to that new food. Please note that even Jews of Ashkenazic descent who prefer to observe the more stringent custom of forgoing קטניות (kitniyot) (legumes and rice) during Pesach, are not prohibited from owning, seeing or benefitting from kitniyot. There is no need for a Kosher for Passover hechsher [certification] on commercially prepared foods for your pets, but it is your responsibility to read the labels carefully before making your purchase.

- 2) If your larger pet has a condition that requires a special diet that must include חמץ (hameitz), or if you have smaller and more transportable animals, you have the option of asking non-Jewish friends to take in your animal for the week of Pesah. Thus your pet does not have to adjust to a new diet and there is still no חמץ (hameitz) in your possession.
- 3) Some authorities allow for the pet to be sold along with the חמץ (hameitz) and, since the pet does not belong to the Jewish owner, the pet eats its normal diet. Note that the document of sale must include the pet as well as the חמץ (hameitz). If you have these pet foods in your home be careful to keep them away from the general kitchen area. Washing of pet utensils should be done out of the kitchen area (e.g. a bathroom sink). This is the least satisfactory option and is included in this Guide as a last resort measure: unlike the חמץ (hameitz) you are selling before Pesah, which is then stored out of sight and is inaccessible to you during Pesah (since it doesn't belong to you), this last option involves your actively seeing and handling that חמץ (hameitz) on, at least, a daily basis.

Non Food Items

Any detergents, cleaners, etc. which are not a food stuff and which are not eaten, may be used for Pesah with no beikhsbered supervision. This would include:

- |                     |   |                           |
|---------------------|---|---------------------------|
| ● aluminum products | ● isopropyl alcohol                     | ● polish                  |
| ● ammonia           | ● laundry and dish detergent            | ● powder and ointment     |
| ● baby oil          | ● oven cleaner                          | ● sanitizers              |
| ● bleach            | ● paper bags                            | ● scouring pads           |
| ● candles           | ● paper plates (with no starch coating) | ● stain remover           |
| ● contact paper     | ● plastic cutlery                       | ● water with no additives |
| ● charcoal          | ● plastic wrap                          | ● wax paper               |
| ● coffee filters    |   |                           |
| ● fabric softener   |   |                           |

When Erev Pesah Falls on Shabbat (adapted from The Observant Life)

When the first night of Passover falls on a Saturday night, there are a number of changes in the normal procedures. The search for hameitz takes place Thursday evening, but instead of leaving just enough hameitz to burn the following morning, enough must be left over for the Shabbat meals as well (if that is the method that you adopt – see below).

The formal burning of the hameitz takes place on Friday morning. In general, Friday should be treated as an ordinary eve of Passover with respect to burning the hameitz and kashering the kitchen, including the stove. In the event that you use ballot made from hameitz for Shabbat, the kol hamira formula recited for nullifying unseen hameitz should not, however, be recited at this time so that the hameitz set aside for Shabbat is not included. Otherwise, if you use matzah ashirah (see below), one should indeed nullify the hameitz on Friday morning.

To facilitate the lighting of candles for the first day of the festival on Saturday night, it is the usual custom to light a twenty-four-hour candle before Shabbat, usually in the form of a yabrtzeit or any similar twenty-four-hour candle. That way, the candles may be lit from a preexistent flame.

Food for Shabbat, and also for the first seder, should be prepared on Friday in Passover utensils.

With regard to ballot, it is permitted to use a special product called “rich” matzah for Friday night and Saturday lunch. (The product, called matzah ashirah in Hebrew, is sometimes misleadingly called egg matzah, although it has no eggs in it.) The use of matzah ashirah is seen as an attractive option by many because it is neither hameitz nor, at least technically, matzah, which is forbidden to be eaten on Erev Pesah. The Committee on Jewish Law and Standards has ruled that the use of matzah ashirah is actually preferable when the eve of Passover coincides with Shabbat.<sup>21</sup> There is less of a chance of making any mistakes and this, in turn, provides for a more relaxing and less stressful Shabbat.

For those who wish to use ballot made of hameitz, follow this procedure: One hameitz plate should be set aside for the ballot to be served Friday evening. (Using a disposable plate is even simpler.) Extreme care should be taken to prevent any crumbs from coming in contact with the Passover utensils, however. The use of disposable paper or plastic dishes and plastic cutlery at the Friday evening and Shabbat morning meals is extremely desirable and solves any number of problems.

Hameitz may not be eaten on Shabbat, as usual on the eve of Passover, after the first third of daylight hours. Leftover hameitz can be flushed down the toilet or put in a public trash receptacle, for example, but it cannot be put in garbage cans or other receptacles on one's own property. The tablecloth should be shaken out outside and then stored with the other hameitz utensils. The kol hamira formula that nullifies any overlooked hameitz should be recited at this time. Subsequent Shabbat meals should include neither ballab nor matzah.
